ULSTER: Peace Through Victory

By Steve Brady

FOR OVER TWENTY YEARS the IRA has been murdering British men, women and children. During that time over two thousand have died and day after day the slaughter goes on. Day after day, month after month, year after year. Because the security forces' hands are tied. Because successive Westminster Governments, Tory and Labour alike, have lacked the courage to grasp the nettle. And SMASH THE IRA!

Yet it would be so easy to end the IRA terror. Last December Ulster police chiefs told the Government all it would take is the arrest of 150 top IRA terrorists. The Police know who these IRA murderers are. They know where they live. But the Government ordered them to do nothing.

Rightly furious at being ordered to just stand by and watch while murdering Provo scum kill with impunity, many Ulster security force personnel have been leaking the IRA membership lists and they have been pinned up on the walls of RUC stations and Army posts across Ulster.

The Government's reaction - instead of being shamed into acting against these terrorists, they struck against their own security forces; unleashing the Stevens witch-hunt against our soldiers and policemen. The Ulster Justice for All group has documented how these brave defenders of our country were treated far worse by the Government they protect than the murdering IRA vermin on the lists they are accused of leaking.

Worse, it has now emerged that instead of acting against the terrorists on their own IRA activists' lists, Major's Government has been taking action to help them! British taxpayers' money has been handed by the Department of Social Security to those on the Government's own list of IRA scum to buy them stronger locks on their doors. Locks to keep out those who are determined that if the authorities won't act to end the IRA nightmare, they will. Tens of thousands of pounds of YOUR money has been spent by our Government to help defend IRA killers. Keeping them alive to kill again!

LASTING PEACE

While all the Government can offer is more talks. Talking while British people are dying. Talks which will lead nowhere. Lasting peace will not emerge from empty talks between parties who reject the very basis of each other's existence. Peace will only come through victory.

Victory won by rounding up every IRA terrorist on the Government's own lists, and hanging the murdering scumbags.

• BRITISH ARMY: Can bring peace to Ulster by defeating the IRA.

• MARCHING FOR THE IRA: Dignitaries parade through New York on St Patrick's Day. Behind them the IRA/Noraid tins are rattling raising money to kill British soldiers and civilians in Ulster.

IRA'S BIG APPLE!

NEW YORK'S Black Mayor, David Dinkins, has just signed a law which could put thousands out of work in Ulster. The law will deny contracts in New York to companies which do not practice "affirmative action" in favour of Irish Republicans in Ulster.

Affirmative action does not mean not discriminating against those it backs. It means discriminating in their favour. New York wants British companies in Britain to hire people who hate Britain rather than loyal British people. Even our not overly-patriotic Westminster Government says it would be illegal.

But New York's new law is not just a silly gesture from a bankrupt slum whose population is a human zoo and whose streets are a jungle. It has teeth. Bombardier makes New York's subway trains, and so would lose massively if the city ended its contract. But it also owns Shorts, the Belfast aircraft firm, Belfast's biggest employer. So the architect of New York's new law, City Controller Elizabeth Holzmann, and the man who will implement it, NY Finance Commissioner and IRA supporter Carol O' Cleireacain, are well placed to force Shorts to fire Britons and hire IRA supporters instead. They also own £60 million worth of British industry. Stock they say they will use to vote proxy resolutions in support of their "hire Republicans, fire Britons" policy in companies such as Abbey National, British Telecom and Sainsbury's.

New York is the latest of two dozen US cities and states to back the "MacBride Principles", as the "hire Republicans, fire Britons" policy is called. Not only the British Government, but even John Hume of the pro-Irish SDLP in Ulster, have made clear that they believe these

"MacBride Principles" are an IRA plot to wreck Ulster's economy and discourage investment in the Province. That's the thanks we get from the Yanks for fighting for them in their Gulf War!

It is bad enough when America's corrupt political bosses use "affirmative action" such as this to discriminate against Whites in their own country. It is intolerable when they try to use it to discriminate against Britons in ours. If any company in Ulster seeks to bow to such foreign pressure and implement the illegal MacBride Principles, its Directors should be jailed and its assets seized without compensation on behalf of the British people of Ulster. New York Mayor Dinkins should go back to the urban jungle he presides over and mind his own business!

Beethoven was an African!

"BEETHOVEN MAY have played the White man, but he was actually as black as the ebony on his keyboards". This bizarre claim was put forward by the Afro-Caribbean magazine 'Pride'. "Beethoven was a forerunner of pop idols like Stevie Wonder", claims writer Shabaz Lamumba, who argues that although the German musician is often portrayed as white, his hair is always painted in a thick and busy Afro style.

"A close friend of his once described him as short and stocky with broad shoulders, short neck, round nose and a blackish-brown complexion", added Lamumba.

• BEETHOVEN: Was he a Rasta?

He went on "This is a conspiracy to deprive the black community of a hero... When one examines the facts, the conclusions are that Beethoven is not part of the Caucasian race."

This theory doesn't strike a chord with shocked music experts. "The whole idea is ludicrous" said Hugo Woods, head of music at Christchurch College, Cambridge.

"Beethoven was nicknamed 'the Moor' as a young man because he looked quite dark... He was also pockmarked which added to the effect... But so-called evidence that pictures showed him to be black are rubbish". "Pride" editor William Ansong warned "We will be blowing the lid on a lot of 'White' heroes who were really Black".

Turning your back on Mecca?

AN ASIAN Councillor in Bristol is taking a firm stand over how Moslems spend a penny!

Khalid Ahmed says public toilets should be designed so Moslems do not have to face Mecca.

Now members of the City's equalities committee have promised to face up to the problem. "Moslems face Mecca when they say their daily prayers", said Labour councillor Ahmed, "but it's considered disrespectful for them to do so when they go to the toilet".

Men at Work

MEN in Britain work longer hours than in any other European country according to an EC survey.

42% of men in the UK work more than 46 hours a week, putting our country at the top of the table of long working hours just above Greece and Ireland and well above Germany where only 14% of men fall into that category.

To make ends meet British women are also forced to go out to work which puts an unacceptable pressure on family life.

Police Afraid to Act Over Blues Parties

by Stuart Lake

WHITE COUNCIL HOUSE tenants in a Midlands town could find themselves evicted onto the streets if they complain about noisy parties held by their Black neighbours. That's the latest threat from the Race Board Commissars.

In its annual report published in May the Wolverhampton Racial Equality Council says that the Police and the Borough Council are not doing enough to stop "White racists" harassing their Black neighbours, harassment meaning anything from unfriendly attitudes to making complaints to the Police about noisy parties and suspicious behaviour.

Mr. William Stephens, chairman of the WREC has warned of a spate of what he calls "racial terrorism" and has called on the housing department of the Borough Council to bring court action against White folk and evict them from their homes.

Such action would not be without precedent, over the past two years several local authorities including Wolverhampton's neighbour Sandwell have successfully turned out White families onto the streets for alleged racist behaviour.

The FLAG visited Heath Town, a 1960's high rise development close to Wolverhampton town centre. It houses a large Afro-Caribbean population and was the scene of riots in 1987 & 1989.

We spoke to some of the beleaguered White residents who were disgusted by the latest news. "It's unbelievable", said one chap in a local pub, "...these Race Relations people should come and live here." Another spoke of her frustration at the lack of activity by the Police in dealing with genuine complaints: "loud music is sometimes played all day and night but the Police say there is nothing they can do, it's intolerable."

The West Midlands Police have set up a hotline in English and six Asian languages for

• BLUES PARTIES: West Indian blues parties are part of their culture. Back on their own sunny islands what better way to while away the days listening to loud music, drinking Red Stripe and smoking pot. But a council estate in Wolverhampton is not the Caribbean although it might look like it some time. Blues parties in Britain make the life of neighbours a nightmare.

"victims of racial harassment" to contact.

Meanwhile the unhappy, dispossessed Whites whose taxes and rents pay for Mr. Stephens and his fellow WREC councillors' upkeep in plush well to do areas of the town have nobody to contact.

A National Front council would not tolerate such a situation. Council funding to such bodies as the WREC would be stopped and legislation enforced to prevent disturbances of the peace.

• FELIXSTOWE: It was Britain's biggest container port.

CHINQUE PORT!

FELIXSTOWE FALLS TO THE CHINESE

FELIXSTOWE IN Suffolk, Britain's biggest container port, has been sold to the Chinese. On June 12th British firm P&O sold almost the entire port, lock, stock and barrel to billionaire Li Ka-shing's Hong Kong Hutchinson Whampoa conglomerate for £80 million. Only one terminal was not included in the deal. It already belongs to another Chinaman, C.H. Tung.

At the moment Felixstowe's owners are Hong Kong Capitalist Chinese. But in 1997 Hong Kong is to be handed over to Red China, so six years from now one of Britain's biggest ports will be controlled by Peking Communist Chinese. Ironic, really. Instead of Britain owning one of China's biggest East Coast ports, China will own one of Britain's! The South Coast has the Cinque Ports. Now the East Coast, it seems, is to have the 'Chinque Ports'!

It is also a disgrace. Selling chunks of Great Britain off to foreigners is bad enough. But when the foreigners in question are in effect the dictators of the World's last, and nastiest, Communist tyranny, sworn enemies of our country, it is nothing short of treason.

Front Pledge on Injured Soldiers

GUARDSMAN SEAN Povey, from the Midlands, was just 19 when a buried unexploded shell blew off both his legs on an Army exercise in Alberta, Canada. Two years later, as he awaited the 14th operation on his shattered legs, ex-Guardsman Povey was told how much the Government in whose service he was crippled for life valued his sacrifice.

A Ministry of Defence pension of just eight pounds a week.

His fellow Grenadier Guardsman, John Ray and Adrian Hicks, also injured by the same explosion, have fared no better. Said ex-Guardsman Povey bitterly "I get the feeling now that the Ministry of Defence are just prepared to forget about us, just part of somebody's paperwork".

• POVEY: Disgraceful Treatment.

ANYONE BUT A LOYAL BRITISH ULSTERMAN!

ON JANUARY 17th the Arts Council of Northern Ireland announced the successor to its retiring Director, Kenneth Jamison. They passed over his deputy, Londonderry man Brian Ferran and instead they appointed Michael Haynes.

Haynes 43, is the Head of Arts and Entertainment in the London Borough of Hackney. He is also a West Indian. His appointment has been widely criticised with many in the province believing the Ulster Arts Council, with its £3.5 million budget provided by the taxpayer, should be headed by an experienced local man rather than an exotic import

Such an opinion has been predictably denounced as "racist". The left-wing Ulster journal Fortnight, in contrast, fawned on the "commendable liberalism" of the appointment.

Then some inquisitive people started taking a closer look at Mr. Haynes. They discovered that the brash Black had claimed in his job application to have degrees from two universities, Sussex and America's renowned Princeton, who had never even heard of him. Furthermore, he had cited an arts administration course at the Polytechnic of Central London which was not running when he claimed to have attended it. The Ulster Arts Council had been so eager to give their top job to an immigrant that they had not even bothered to check the qualifications he claimed.

The BBC radio arts programme Kaleidoscope was prompted to ask how many O-

• HAYNES: Sussex and Princeton Universities hadn't heard of him!

Levels, let alone university degrees, Haynes actually had!

In early April documentary proof that no record exists of Haynes' purported academic qualifications was given to outgoing Arts Council Director Jamison. Whereupon the Black withdrew his acceptance of the Director's job "for personal reasons".

Now the Ulster Arts Council has been forced to give the job to their former Deputy Director, Brian Ferran, from the Republican Immigrant community in Ulster. The ends to which the Arts Council in Ulster will go to keep the position out of the hands of a loyal British Ulsterman underlines what a degenerate body it is!

LABOUR/IRA LINK ON COSTA DEL DIVIS

THE IRA in conjunction with Sheffield Labour Councillors are is running holiday trips to Belfast during the summer.

The holidaymakers stay with IRA supporters in the Divis Flats in West Belfast and have a whole series of fun events arranged for them by their organisers from stoning the army and the RUC to attending bomb-making classes.

No, this isn't a joke. It is really happening on August 8th-12th. Let's just hope our Police are on hand to arrest the 100 or so "holidaymakers" when they arrive back on the mainland and charge them with aiding and abetting IRA terrorism!

Welsh Windbag!

WHEN NEIL Kinnock was asked if Labour would accept a Common European Currency he replied with 228 words. What he said was incomprehensible and left everyone confused as to Labour's intention.

But what else could he have done other than waffle on the subject? Labour are in the business of winning votes - the votes of people against Europe and the votes of people for Europe. If you say nothing you have a much better chance of picking up support from both camps.

YET ANOTHER new leaflet from the National Front's most active branch. West London are out on the streets on three nights during the week.

Lambeth Branch

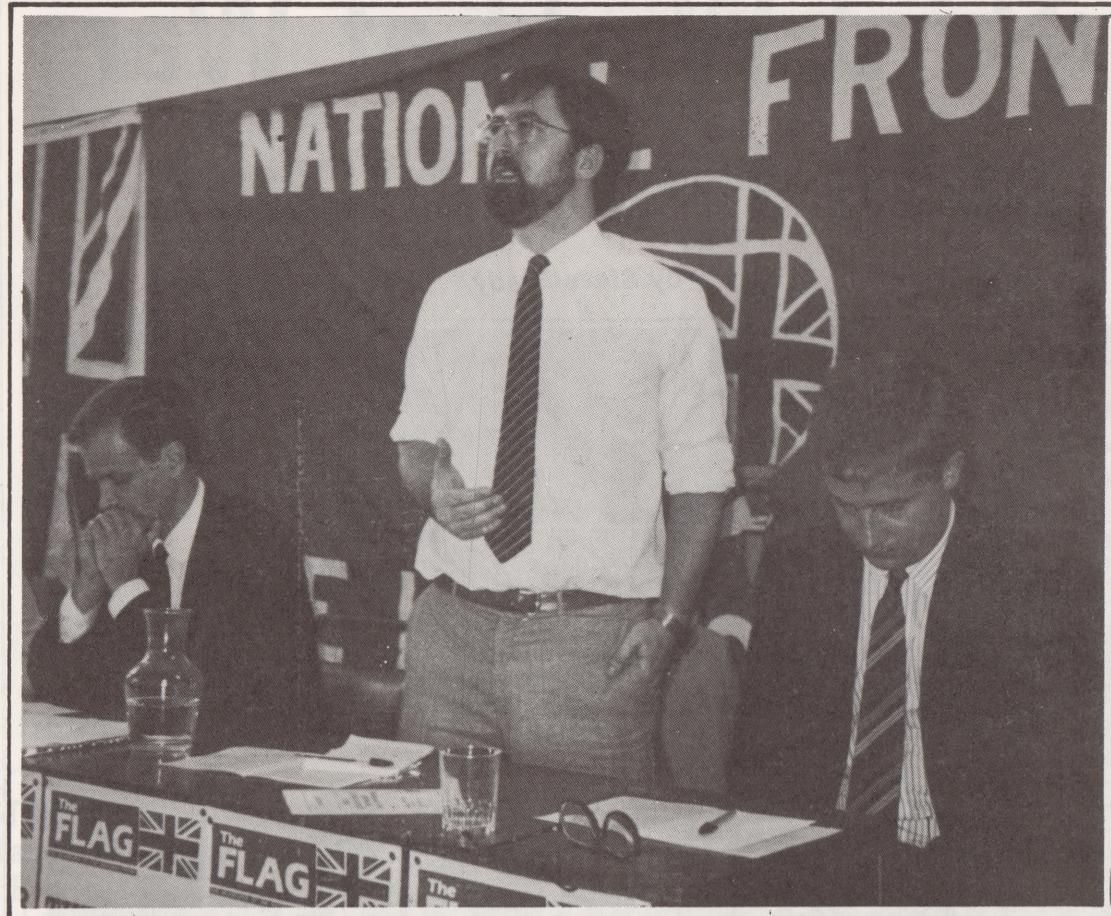

LAMBETH BRANCH is back off the ground after a few years absence. Regular leafletting has re-started and the first few paper sales have already taken place.

Local members are very keen and active but are short on funds and will be grateful for any assistance. Lambeth Branch in the past has been one of the Party's premier units and it is good to see the NF rebuilding in this area.

Letters, enquiries and donations, for now, should be sent to Lambeth NF, BCM Newpat, London WC1N 3XX.

• KEY ACTIVIST: Richard White (foreground) from Lambeth.

THE BRADY INTERVIEW

"The Leadership Principle is an excuse for an Asiatic despotism unworthy of White Men and alien to thousands of years of European tradition".

QUESTION

THE FLAG: You have been likened to John Prescott who when he was trying for the Deputy Leadership of the Labour Party said he saw the position as a campaigning role. Are you a campaigning Deputy Chairman?

STEVE BRADY: Well I certainly campaign for the policies of the National Front at every possible opportunity but that is where the similarity ends. Prescott is an individualist, a maverick almost, whereas I, as Deputy Chairman of the National Front am part of a team. A team in which every member, from the National Directorate officials to the local branch activists, has his or her own special part to play. My part very largely consists of speaking and writing - and, hopefully, thinking. Which are as I see it the main jobs of the Deputy Chairman. I don't see the job as a perch from which to bark orders at others or an ego-trip - the NF is not that kind of party. I'm glad to say. As far as I am concerned the so-called "top jobs" in the Party are simply positions of extra responsibility and additional service to the Cause.

Some Nationalists, none in the National Front thank goodness, believe in the so-called "Leadership Principle". This is, at best, an excuse for an Asiatic despotism unworthy of White men and alien to thousands of years of European tradition. At worst it is an excuse for mediocrities to manipulate the less well educated. I prefer to earn influence among free men and women rather than be given power over self-enshacked slaves.

Finally, I try never to forget that the heart and soul of the National Front is its activists. It is they who have kept the Party going for almost a quarter of a century whilst self-styled "leaders" too often have bickered, plotted among themselves, factionalised, split and generally served them and the Cause ill.

QUESTION

THE FLAG: You have also, fairly recently, taken over the Editorship of Vanguard magazine. What do you see as the role of Vanguard?

STEVE BRADY: To primarily provide in depth coverage of issues and ideas, and a forum for internal debate, for British Nationalism which would clearly be inappropriate in a popular newspaper like The FLAG. Thus educating Nationalists and developing our own ideas. But also serving as something for a showcase of those Nationalist ideas. Something NF members can take pride in.

A magazine which can hold its own in any company, which would not be out of place among other current affairs and political journals on a newsagent's shelf. A publication which in terms both of content and preservation serves a key role in what I see as the NF's main present task.

To achieve this we need additional contributors. If we had them the magazine could appear more often without lowering standards, which I am not prepared to do. As Editor I will not meet deadlines by just packing the pages with reprints from other foreign magazines, turgid multi-page ramblings, interminable factional diatribes and abysmal crackpot tripe which makes the Movement a laughing-stock. That is not our way.

QUESTION

THE FLAG: Recently the Guardian depicted you as supporting "more militancy", in contrast to Party Chairman Ian Anderson's more "electoral approach". What is your reaction to this?

STEVE BRADY: No real surprise. Seeing "splits" and "factions" in political parties enables journalists to churn out exciting copy. They do it to the Tories, they do it to Labour, so why should the NF escape?

However, in our case I am baffled by the total muddle of the Guardian story. It is as if Tony Benn were depicted as on Labour's "right-wing", or Nicholas Ridley as an ardent Tory pro-European! As virtually everyone in the NF knows, I have always been a firm supporter of the electoral approach. There can be few NF officials who have not heard me expound the electoral "ladder strategy" or talk about sinking local roots! And it was together with Ian Anderson that I criticised the demands for "more militancy" i.e. a departure from the NF's traditional role as a political party - and confronted and finally ejected the small "Revolutionary Cadre" clique from the NF several years ago. Indeed, if anything I think that as it grows the NF should continue to move away from "militant" street politics toward more conventional mainstream activities.

Around the Branches

BELOW: Birmingham Branch Organiser Tony Burke, Neil Kiely and Mick Maylen in Rugeley.

Ian Anderson is the best man for the job on all counts.

As far as I am concerned my abilities lie elsewhere. I am by inclination an academic, not a politician. Were our country's need not so dire that even the likes of me must bestir themselves in its defence I would today be engaged in arcane zoological research in some quiet laboratory, churning out the odd impenetrable learned paper from time to time. Or, perhaps, teaching.

Such a disposition fits me for jobs such as writing long and hopefully interesting and relevant articles in magazines, rather than representing the NF on the Six o'Clock News. Or, for that matter, playing the role written for me by some of our more imaginative opponents as international super-villain, the NF's answer to Eamonn Stavro Blofeld! I can also write shorter articles and make speeches which keep at least some of the audience awake. So I can serve the NF best as a journalist, writer and speaker. And, to the best of my ability, thinker and ideologist. Which is all I want to do.

As the Party grows, and newer members of calibre and ability come to the fore, I see myself being freed to relinquish those posts others can fill better than I in order to concentrate on the jobs I do best. That will also give me more time to write more in depth works. My Roots of the British, which like Vanguard has been much praised but little purchased or promoted by Party Branches, is the sort of thing I have in mind. When time permits, a booklet on Race and on the practicalities of our repatriation policies will be forthcoming. Later I would like to write a book on Nationalist ideology. At the moment I don't have time.

But in all I do, as I hope all I have done, I will seek always as best I can to serve our Cause, the survival and advancement of the White Race and the British nation. As far as I am concerned, that is what it is all about.

The Roots of the British

ROOTS OF THE BRITISH by Steve Brady is the story of who we British are and where we come from. It demolishes the "Nation of Immigrants" myth and discovers the collective roots of the British Nation.

Children Suffer Muslim Abuse at Primary School!

BRITISH FOUR-year-olds came home from a primary school in Nelson, Lancashire, recently with their hands dyed orange as part of an Asian cult rite. Horrified mothers greeted returning tots clutching Muslim 'Eid al-Fitr' cards bearing a picture of a mosque, their hands stained with henna dye which took a fortnight to wash off.

The little British children told of being forced by Asian "ethnic specialists" at Bradley County Primary School to take part in foreign rites to celebrate the end of the Mohammedan Ramadan. They also revealed that Asian kids were to get a day's holiday to celebrate "Eid", while they had to go to school.

Many British mothers, furious at what they described as "favouritism to Asians" and brainwashing of their children in alien religions, have withdrawn their children from Bradley and sent them to other schools. One such mother, Mrs. Caren Goddard, said "I was disgusted!"

BRAINWASHING

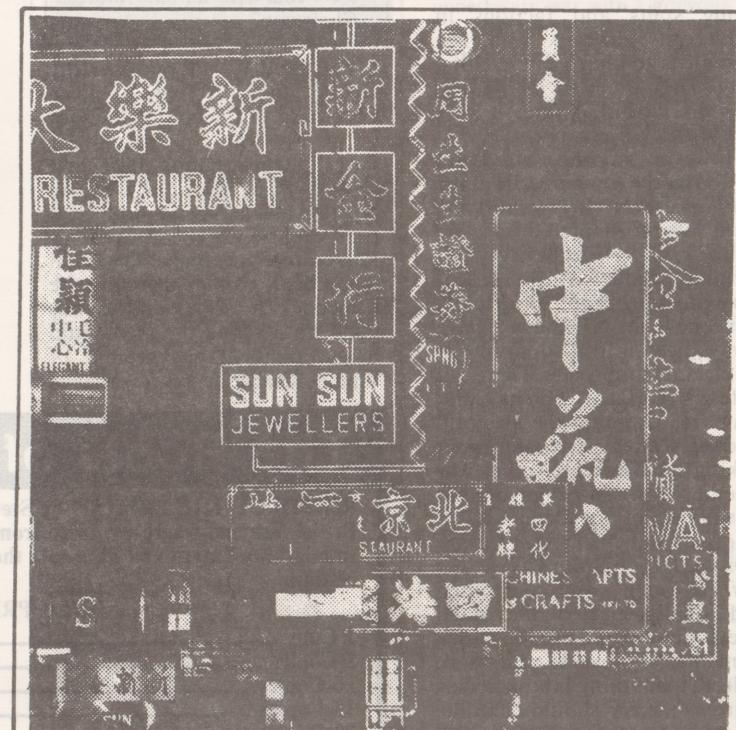

But their children will not escape Islamic brainwashing just by moving to another school. For the celebration of Eid and the extra day off for Muslim pupils are policies laid down not by the Headmaster of one school but by Lancashire County Council for all its schools. If Nelson's mothers want a proper British upbringing for their kids then they can't run. They must fight. And that means voting for Lancashire County Councillors who will scrap Asian brainwashing in British schools. National Front councillors.

MUTANT HERO TRIADS?

TRIADS, THE organised criminal gangs emanating from China are poised to grow in Britain as more Hong Kong citizens settle in our country in the run up to the colony's return to China in 1997 according to a senior Scotland Yard detective.

Det Chief Supt Jim Boocock said there were three Triad organisations at present active in Britain, the Wo On Lok, the Wo Shing Wo and the 14K, and a fourth, the Sun-Yee On with a tough reputation in Hong Kong was also seeking recruits in Britain.

The Triads specialise in drugs, extortion, prostitution and illegal immigrants. Presumably multi-racialists would call that "enriching our culture!"

• HONG KONG: Triads leaving for a more crime-fertile Britain.

Third World at War on Britain's Streets!

by Steve Brady

• BOLTON & BLACKBURN: Police try in vain to keep battling Asian gangs apart. Later houses were petrol-bombed.

RIVAL GANGS of Asian youths brought three nights of terror to the streets of Bolton last month. Hordes of young immigrants battled police and each other with petrol bombs, iron bars, bricks and baseball bats in rioting which went totally unreported in the national media. Except for The FLAG, which tells the truth other papers fear to print.

Rioting began in the mainly Asian area of Blackburn Road, Astley Bridge, Bolton. The clashes were between local Asian gangs and Asians from the nearby town of Blackburn.

This was only a warm-up for the main event the next evening. Fifty Asian youths, armed with clubs, baseball bats and iron bars, drove in a convoy of twelve cars from Blackburn into Bolton. Within minutes, hundreds of Asians were rioting in Blackburn Road, Ullswater Street, and Lena Street on the outskirts of Bolton town centre. In nearby Kempson Road local British people trembled in their homes as their immigrant neighbour Amar Chand had his car petrol-bombed. The firebomb, thrown

Bullet-Proof Flak Jackets

POLICE patrolling Manchester's inner-city Black ghettos are to wear bullet-proof flak jackets on patrol. This unprecedented move comes as Moss Side, Cheetham and Salford are torn by gun battles between rival Black drug gangs.

As one policeman explained "the use of firearms is becoming more prevalent and all these areas have recently had problems with people using guns. So many are about nowadays that it makes sense for officers to have protective clothing... They are a must in some situations".

Such as the situation in the Manchester ghettos over the last few months, as gun battles between Black youths over drugs have escalated. According to Police they "have no compunction about using such deadly weaponry". In recent weeks Police have found over fifty handguns and shotguns in these areas.

This is where multi-racialism has led us. Turning parts of British cities into American-style ghettos ruled by the gun, which British bobbies must patrol in bullet-proof jackets. How much more of this can we Britons take before we wake up?

Stabbing Follows 'Rap'

IN AN incident typical of growing race war between Blacks and Asians on British streets, an Asian youth was stabbed outside a central Birmingham night club recently. The stabbing followed "rapping" inside the Hummingbird Club, in which rival gangs taunt each other. This led to a fight. On one side the West Indian gangs "The Raupers" from Handsworth and a gang called (believe it or not!) the crews. An ambulance's spokesman said "the first of three vehicles to arrive was confronted by about 400 people who seemed to be going mad. Our crew was frightened to death." Firemen dodged bricks and bottles as they fought to free four Asians trapped in a car. All had been clubbed with baseball bats and were taken to hospital with head injuries.

But that was not all the following night, Sunday 19th, hundreds of Asians wielding baseball bats and iron bars poured onto the streets of the Lancashire mill town waiting for the Blackburn Asians to return. As they failed to show, the immigrants attacked the Police instead, bombarding them with bricks and broken bottles. Fifty police officer, some with dogs and including members of the Tactical Aid Group riot squad, battled the rioters, making a number of arrests.

In the cold light of Monday morning, those arrested during the riots appeared before Bolton magistrates. All had Asian names. Two-thirds bore the

by Stephen Ebbs

A SURVEY has been taken following concern about low levels of achievement by Asian pupils in the Blackburn district. It revealed horrifying figures.

92% of Asian pupils starting nursery schools and classes do not know enough English to communicate their basic needs.

Nearly two thirds of Asian pupils starting primary school speak little or no English.

Almost 20% of Asian primary school children are absent from the classroom each day. This compares with an overall average absentee rate of 8%.

Primary school rolls in urban Blackburn are expected to have increased by 10% between 1985 and 1996, ie. an increase of 464 pupils and a new school would be required to cater for this increase.

At present, Asians account for just over half the children in 34 primary schools and 45% of pupils in five secondary schools.

Families of Asian origin make up one quarter of the district's population, but account for 41% of the urban area population.

The Lancashire County Council's education bosses have submitted the statistics to back a £2.6 million bid to the Home Office for continued grant aid for teaching and non-teaching posts to meet special educational needs of pupils from Asian backgrounds.

Meanwhile, whilst these figures are being discussed the British pupils will continue to suffer because of their ever-decreasing educational resources.

The £2.6m can be better used to start the repatriation programme needed to get this country free from the destructive influence and backward ways of multi-racialism. Only then will British pupils get the education that they are entitled to.

Helicopter Spotlights Drug Battle

SIX MEN were slashed and stabbed with commando knives and machetes during a drug gang battle at the Hacienda night club in Moss Side, Manchester.

A police helicopter flew over the mayhem with sweeping searchlights as the ferocious battle raged. In the last 11 months there have been eight murders connected with the drug war in this area of Manchester.

THE TSR-2 (TACTICAL STRIKE RECONNAISSANCE) was an all British designed and built aircraft that was intended to replace the all British designed and built Canberra in RAF Squadron Service. The fearsome capability of this classic British design enabled it to fly below enemy radar at supersonic speeds to deliver up to 6,000lbs of ordnance.

The all-British TSR-2 system was indeed an awesome opponent for potential enemies of Britain to contend with. The enemies of TSR-2 however were not to be found in the Soviet Union, but right here in our midst... the enemy within.

TSR-2 was cancelled by Harold Wilson's Labour Government in 1965, the reason given was the usual "We can't afford it".

We could afford however to spend billions purchasing and maintaining the American Polaris missiles. We could afford to spend billions providing jobs and prosperity for Americans. The cancellation of TSR-2 is even more sinister when we discover that it was America that insisted that TSR-2 be scrapped and even the prototype and jigs be destroyed.

by Paul Flavelle

So much for our closest ally!

The squalid fate of TSR-2 was by no means unique, during the 1950's and 60's large numbers of very promising aeronautical projects were killed off by traitors in both Labour and Conservative Governments. The massive potential for jobs, prosperity, maintaining Britain at the forefront of technology, and dominating the world export markets, was denied to us by decisions made by people who were meant to have been putting the interests of the British people first. Today those export markets, worth billions per annum, are a free-for-all for America, France, Japan and the Soviet Union.

This incomprehensible treachery continued through the 1970's and 1980's and, as we learn from the savage cuts to the British Army, is with us today. In recent times we have seen Thatcher sell-out the all-British AWACS Nimrod in favour of the American Boeing E.3A Sentry. Thatcher also refused to fund the all-British Manned Space Shuttle (HOTOL), indeed British Aerospace are now having to take the begging bowl to other countries, notably the Soviet Union, to at least keep an unmanned version alive.

Sell-out, deceit, lies, compromise and treachery that is the true face of Tory and Labour Government. A true Briton's nightmare come to life. In just eighty years successive Labour and Conservative administrations have reduced our country from the most powerful on earth to our impotence of today. Our forefathers must be turning in their graves.

Only the National Front can offer hope to Great Britain and her true people. Only the National Front can deliver our country from the humiliation we suffer at present. Only the National Front will invest British money in British aircraft design, only the National Front will invest in an all-British manned Space Programme, only the National Front will invest in British technology and brush aside any meddling from the Americans. Only the National Front can rebuild those lost factories and jobs and do so on a scale not witnessed in the last fifty years.

British genius is still with us, the quality of British craftsmanship is still with us, and despite attempts by Labour and Conservative traitors to destroy it, the pride and loyalty that most Britons feel for their country is still with us. All we need is a National Front Government to free our people from the bondage of treachery and Great Britain will rise again. The martyrdom of the TSR-2 will be avenged!

The Bungling of the Foreign Office

IF THE BRITISH hostages held in Lebanon and Iraq are murdered by their captors the blame for their deaths can be firmly laid at the door of Britain's Foreign Office.

Never in the history of diplomacy has Britain, over the last 28 days, acted in such a disgraceful way. Its behaviour has put the lives of British subjects, Terry Waite, Jackie Mann, John McCarthy and Ian Richter in serious danger.

Gadaffi of Libya is a Godfather of Terrorism, the National Front continually said so. But in the Arab world he commands some respect and yields a certain amount of influence especially with those groups holding British hostages in Lebanon. When Tory MP Teddy Taylor succeeded in getting an apology from Gadaffi for the shooting at the Libyan Embassy, and a sizable donation for the Police Benevolent Fund it was a small but significant step in opening a channel of dialogue that could lead to the British hostages being set free.

But the Foreign Office failed even to acknowledge Gadaffi's gesture causing the Libyan leader to lose face in the Arab World. He is hardly likely to put in a good word for the British hostages now.

The same applied in the release of Douglas Brand. Iraq released him - that is what is important. That country which has been so humiliated in the eyes of the world in recent months wanted show goodwill by handing him over at their Embassy in Jordan in front of the media to gain a tiny unimportant propaganda coup. Why didn't we let them. It would have given them some encouragement which they no doubt would have wanted to repeat and that could have been the release of Ian Richter.

The Foreign Office has sunk to new depths. We have Douglas Hogg racing around Beirut pleading to talk with kidnappers and murderers and being rebuffed by everyone and making Britain look a laughing stock, when a little bit of diplomacy and a short private letter to Gadaffi thanking him for his donation and asking him for help with the hostages would have been much more productive.

For the sake of the families of those hostages held in the Middle East I just pray that the bungling of the Foreign Office hasn't put those British lives in danger.

If they have - then Hurd and Hogg must face the consequences.

Slaughter

THE INDIAN authorities have had to ban the use of animals as party symbols in this year's General Election. "Animal figures such as deer, peacocks, tigers, elephants, eagles and sparrows will not be available to candidates this year", an election official has announced.

The symbols are important because half the Indian electorate can neither read nor write and so use them to pick who to vote for. This has led to an interesting campaigning tactic - slaughtering rival parties' symbolic animals in public during election rallies. It also led to votes being swayed by such extraneous issues as whether tigers were stronger than peacocks!

Now the parties will have to revert to slaughtering rival parties' candidates in public instead. Dozens were thus removed abruptly from the ballot paper in the recent Indian election campaign. Including, of course, hereditary Prime Minister Rajiv Gandhi.

Japanese See Growth in National Front

A JAPANESE newspaper aimed at their top businessmen, lower management, diplomats, advisers and students living in Britain has predicted that the National Front will be growing rapidly as a political force over the next decade.

The front page article in Eikoku News Digest refutes the general Japanese impression that Britain is a nation that pays out 'Social Security from the cradle to the grave'. The report continues...

"For those less advantaged they have found to express oneself is to join the National Front. Spring has come but in Britain things are very gloomy".

A spokesman for Eikoku News told The FLAG that the Japanese as a race are patriotic to the point that they see no difference between patriotism and racial, social and economic nationalism. He went on "If the Japanese were to suddenly be transformed into Britons they would support the National Front without question".

Now the parties will have to revert to slaughtering rival parties' candidates in public instead. Dozens were thus removed abruptly from the ballot paper in the recent Indian election campaign. Including, of course, hereditary Prime Minister Rajiv Gandhi.

• JOHN HAMILTON: The Chairman of the Bolton Branch of the National Front addresses the meeting.

MANCHESTER MEETING

ON SATURDAY 15th June 70 National Front members enjoyed a very pleasant meeting in the Royals Hotel, Altrincham Road, Wythenshawe, Manchester. The meeting was entirely peaceful and no problems at all were experienced despite the efforts of Labour-controlled Manchester Council and virtually every 'Red' group in the area.

Three weeks earlier shock headlines had appeared in the Manchester papers announcing that the National Front had booked an environmental conference in the ante-room to the Council Chamber in Manchester Town Hall.

This was followed by the announcement that Manchester Council was going to cancel the booking on the grounds that the National Front did not agree with their 'Equal Opportunities Programme' which, amongst other things, would require us to agree with the employment of homosexuals in Childrens' Homes.

This cancellation hardly came as a surprise to us and we were ready with the next press statement which declared our intention of holding a picket demonstration outside the Town Hall at the time originally scheduled for our meeting.

It took several days before the Manchester media realised that this would coincide with the arrival of the Lord Mayor at the Town Hall after his annual procession through the city.

When questioned about this, we indicated that this would be no problem for us and we would happily give him a leaflet as he entered the Town Hall.

By this time the Labour Party and all the city's Red Groups had started to organise their opposition to the NF and were threatening all sorts of trouble. Just a few days before the event the Police got in touch with us and asked us to reconsider our plan to picket the Town Hall because of the problems that would ensue.

With 48 hours to go, the National Front issued a statement saying "In order to avoid any inconvenience to the people of Manchester who wished to enjoy the Annual Lord Mayor's Parade, we were postponing our picket demonstration at the Town Hall, however our rally would go ahead as planned". We obviously gave no details of its location.

On the day we picked up our members in Central Manchester and drove two miles to Wythenshawe using a convoy of minibuses. The rally itself was in a very pleasant room and was addressed by John Hamilton, Bolton Branch Chairman, Stephen Ebbs, Blackburn Branch Organiser, Ian Anderson, NF Chairman and the closing speech was by Steve Brady, NF Deputy Chairman who gave a thoroughly amusing and rousing address. The meeting was chaired by NW Regional Organiser Dave Sudworth and the collection raised £284.00.

Around the Branches

TOP: In depth discussion at a Birmingham Branch meeting on June 6th. MIDDLE: The literature table at the same meeting sold £54.88 in National Front merchandise. BOTTOM: The 3rd AGM of Exeter National Front on June 2nd raised £155.00.

FRONT ON GULF DUTY

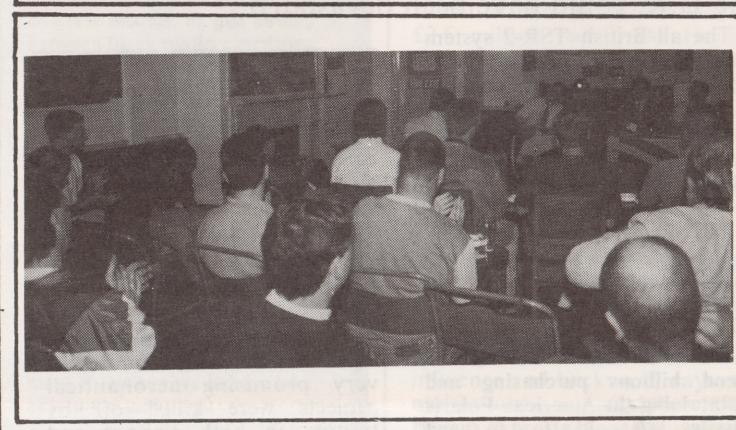

THE EVENING before the Gulf Parade through the City of London, Ken Livingstone addressed a meeting of 500 Labour Party, SWP and Militant members at Friends Meeting House, Euston Road, London.

The NF only heard about this meeting some 48 hours earlier but a swift phone around by Terry Blackham managed to produce about 15 activists ready to picket the hall and show our support for British troops.

We arrived at the hall about half and hour before the meeting was due to start. Outside were 100 or so Reds hanging around selling their various papers to each other. We piled out of the minibus and walked up to the main entrance of the hall with our placards proclaiming "RED KEN: Friend of Britain's Enemies" and "Well Done - Our lads in the Gulf".

Suddenly as the word got around the Reds piled out of the hall and outnumbering us 10 to 1 launched an attack which was met with a swift response from our members and their placards.

In the ensuing scuffle none of our members were hurt but several of the opposition had to be carried away. The large group of cameramen and TV journalists quickly homed in on the NF and the slogans on our placards that were still intact. A result of which the NF received regional television and press coverage of our support for Britain's troops.

Kipper Box Man

AS WE all know, every time an election looms the Tories try to steal our trousers and pose as opponents of coloured immigration. Former Tory Party Chairman Norman Tebbit tried this little ploy when he staged his feeble and farcical stand against the Bill giving British citizenship to hordes of Hong Kong Chinese. It was so unconvincing that it failed miserably and no wonder when Tebbit's real position is now revealed.

Norman Tebbit is an M.P.; a former Minister; a former airline pilot; a world famous trick cyclist; a director of more companies than you can shake a stick at; and a valued employee of Rupert Murdoch.

You may think that a man of such varied and all-embracing talents must be deficient in some respect and you will be right.

For Norman's real attitude in matters of race has been demonstrated by his recent peevish objection to the descriptions "immigrant" and "West Indian" being applied to Blacks born in Britain. They are, he insists British and, if born in England, English.

Ah yes, and if a cat has kittens in a kipper box the kittens must be kippers.

Does anyone really believe that a Black or a White born in China is Chinese? The Chinese would strongly object to that. If you meet a White man born in Africa you will be ill-advised to call him Sambo.

There were in the nineteen thirties and forties two famous and beautiful actresses called Joan Fontaine and Olivia De Havilland. They were sisters born to British parents in Tokyo. No one ever guessed that they were Japanese, indeed when the Japanese bombed Pearl Harbour, the Americans didn't even intern them along with the rest of the Japs.

And what of Norman himself? Merely because he lives in Rupert Murdoch's pocket, does this make him Australian-cum-American-cum-something-else-convenient like his boss?

No indeed, Norman is 100% British, indeed he is English.

As an Englishman, I just can't tell you how much I resent that fact!

Yet Another Irish Joke

WE ALL like a good joke, don't we. The trouble is that politicians hardly ever tell one that's worth hearing. Their latest effort is, however, a real hoot.

This was Peter "Babbling" Brooke's nomination of Lord Carrington as the "independent and impartial Chairman" of the so-called constitutional conference on N.Ireland.

The ensuing uproar in Ulster was composed in equal measure of roars of laughter, howls of derision, and bellows of rage. Most thought it was a very good joke in very poor taste and why would they not indeed for, although N.Ireland is the responsibility of a branch of the Home Office, the joke bore all the hallmarks of the Foreign Office where the great and good Lord Carrington reigned between 1979 and 1982 and where the heirs to Burgess and MacLean regard N.Ireland as a foreign country.

Ulstermen are well aware, no doubt, that in 1979 milord Carrington presided over the notorious Lancaster House Conference on the future of Rhodesia. It was there that the gullible White Rhodesians, brimful of confidence in the good offices of their good friend

Margaret Thatcher and her fellow Tory tripehounds, were well and truly sold down the Zambezi. The outcome of that conference led to bitter Rhodesian allegations of a Tory betrayal and to Lord Carrington being widely reported as having boasted to his friends of how the Foreign Office had "diddled the Rhodesians".

It was also during milord Carrington's term as Foreign Secretary that the Foreign Office attempted to force the Falkland Islanders to accept the inevitability of Argentinian sovereignty by withdrawing the Falklands survey and supply ship 'Endurance'. This gave Argentina's Italian generals the clear signal - or so they thought - that they could move in straight away and win a few gaudy campaign medals for the chests that otherwise lacked any evidence of military valour. The result was a ruinous and unnecessary war with a grievous loss of life on both sides.

It is hard to believe that even the asinine "Babbling" Brooke could suppose that Carrington would be acceptable except, of course, to the Eire Government and the "Republican" SDLP whose very existence is wholly dependent on the goodwill of the IRA. One can only suppose that his nomination was merely a ploy to make any other contender look good by comparison.

This farcical "Northern Ireland Constitutional Conference" is merely an attempt by the Tories to repeat their disastrous Falklands ploy in the hope of inducing Ulster Loyalists to accept the inevitability of Eirean intervention in the affairs of a British province. All this is purported to be in the cause of weaning away support from the IRA and that is the greatest Irish joke of all. Any constitutional concession will be regarded, correctly, by the IRA as evidence of weakness and of the inevitability of an IRA victory, requiring only a new crescendo of murder and violence to achieve it.

We must hope that the Ulster Loyalists are not so naive as the Rhodesians or so helpless as the living daylights out of English football supporters - a task they undertook with great alacrity.

Since those heady days of triumph he has dropped out of sight and I was rather hoping that he'd gone for a walk in the rain and drowned in a puddle. However, that was just wishful thinking. All this time he has been suffering another kind of submersion; that of junior minister at the Department of Energy - this being the political equivalent of being buried alive.

However, so desperate are the Tories now about their declining political fortunes that they have allowed Colin to surface again so that he might have a go at rallying the panic-stricken Tory troops. This is about as bizarre a ploy as that of the Americans in sending Vice President Dan Quayle - famed far and wide as the ace Vietnam war dodger - out to the Gulf to raise the morale of their mongrel army.

Nevertheless, wee Colin launched himself into a ferocious attack on his opponents and outlined the ghastly consequences that would attend the election of a future Labour Government. They would increase taxes, he warned (this year's two and a half percent increase in VAT being not so much a tax as an Act of God). Not only that but (oh, horror of horrors) impose political control on the police!

Great heavens! What is Colin trying to tell us? That when the rozzers beat striking miners to a pulp; when they threatened to arrest miners for daring to cross county boundaries; when they banned inconvenient demonstrations; when they prevented NF members from attending lawful meetings; when they attacked NF members trying to attend a rally; that they weren't under political control - that they did it all of their own bat?

Well I must say that my first reaction was to dismiss all this as just another hoicaustran product of Colin's fevered imagination. However, one recent event made me wonder.

This event was a press conference given by Sir Peter Imbert, Commissioner of the Metropolitan Police; the "top cop" of a police force that is the envy of the world - or so they tell us.

I've often wondered how one becomes the "top cop". Now I know that it is by displaying the qualities of an unctuous creep and aspiring gauleiter like - well, Sir Peter Imbert for example. Indeed nowadays every ambitious copper knows that there's no promotion this side of the ocean unless he is exactly like this Imbert person.

For top cop Imbert, totally free from political control of course, is in no doubt that it is his duty to keep the peace in a multi-racial society by keeping the British in their place.

He apparently considers that this desirable end can only be achieved by preventing "right-wing" organisations from staging "provocative marches" - thus causing great inconvenience to the police, having "long term effects on the communities they disrupt", and, presumably, hindering the orderly destruction of the nation.

Naturally Imbert has, like all of his kind, an abiding love affair with the Public Order Act, that catch-all, nick-all, cosh-all, act of oppression that has made Britain the most unfree country in the Western World.

However, Imbert is not so besotted with his beloved Act that he is unaware of its shortcomings, particularly its failure to wipe out democracy altogether. He believes it could be much improved for, he suggested; "Perhaps the Act should look not only at the disruption likely to be caused on the particular day but the disarray in the community for days, weeks and months ahead".

Of course democracy does cause disarray and might even lead to differences of opinion, not to mention its great inconvenience to top cops, especially gold-braided knot-heads.

So perhaps in the interests of racial harmony and the peace of mind of top cops, democracy should be officially banned under the Public Order Act, though to ban it one would need to prove its existence and that's no simple matter in Britain today.

So wee Colin Moynihan will positively not make my flesh creep with scare stories about political control of the police. The reality of police control of politics will do that well enough.

Danger - Democrats at Work

YOU REMEMBER Colin Moynihan, don't you. You must do. Wee Colin was Minister of Sport in the Thatcher junta. He it was, you will recall, who went out to Italy during the World Cup and urged the Italian police to beat the

Not the Schools for My Son

I AM a member of the National Front from Blackburn. I have enclosed a newspaper cutting from the local paper the Lancashire Evening Telegraph.

Feelings and Compassion for our Own People!

ONCE AGAIN the British public is forced to sit and watch while the faceless bureaucrats in Westminster hand out the country's money.

Millions of pounds have just been given to Bangladeshi and Kurdish people, money provided by British people which should have gone to help our people in need.

'But' you may be thinking, 'These people are suffering, they are desperate, they need help. How could you say such a thing, have you no feelings?'

Yes of course I feel compassion for these people, but I also feel compassion for my own people in need. One example is the shrinking British Police Force vainly trying to stem the increasing tide of crime and violence. Another is our over-worked and under-paid NHS staff trying in vain to reduce the long waiting lists in hospitals. I feel compassion for our sick and infirm who are on those waiting lists, for pensioners isolated in uncaring inner-city areas where they live in fear day after day, and for pupils and teachers trying work within an education system that is crumbling around them.

I feel compassion for our unemployed. For those school leavers who might never find employment and for those workers now on the dole because Britain's manufacturing base has been destroyed by cheap foreign imports.

I am not saying that we should not help the Kurds or the Bangladeshi or anyone else for that matter. What I am saying is that the British Government should be helping British people first by getting our own house in order before playing Lord Bountiful to the rest of the world.

Paul Williamson,
Rugby,

STAR LETTER OF THE MONTH

Facing up to the Harsh Reality

IN RECENT months The FLAG, both editorially and in articles, has supported the idea of a separate Whites-only homeland in South Africa. I can only echo the call for this, an Apartheid based on cheap Black labour was doomed to failure.

What concerns me is the fact that South African liberals such as Dennis Worrall and Gavin Reilly of Anglo-American have expressed themselves in favour of the same idea. I cannot believe this support comes from any great concern for the White Race.

First it must be accepted that a limited number of Whites would be prepared to settle in such a homeland. In all probability it would be those most politically motivated and who to a great extent are presently engaged in the struggle against race-mixing. The rest of the Whites, the majority, who have permanent positions, interests in business or farming will not move.

As everybody knows, two things govern a State's destiny, the ability to provide for the welfare of its people and to assume the military defence of the State. To found a State in a relatively underdeveloped part and to establish an economy in the midst of a hostile environment is an enormous challenge. To pose a question: will such a state have its own financial system and will it remain committed to the South African Reserve Bank? In the event of the latter, it will soon find itself in an economic stranglehold.

What the attitude of the outside world will be towards such a state is the main consideration. It is a delusion that the enmity of the outside world will be changed by Whites seceding from a racially mixed society to avoid such cohabitation.

If such a seceded state is not prepared to accept non-Whites on an equal footing with Whites, it will continue to arouse the enmity of the outside world with the accusation of racial discrimination. It is time that the idea of a White homeland should be discussed more rationally and that people should not labour under the false apprehension that it offers an Utopia.

The Indian Problem at Home

AFTER THE tragic death of Mr Gandhi, one of the more progressive leaders in the complicated and polarised politics of India, we should remind ourselves of the steadily growing Indian problem at home.

We can recall the unashamed demonstrations of perverse delight by the Sikh community at the death of Mrs Gandhi. There has always been periodic rioting and inter-factional strife between Indian Communities - publicly suppressed by police and media - in the supposed interests of good community relations.

More and more representatives from the ethnic minorities are being pushed to the fore in British politics by the three main unpatriotic parties grovelling for votes. We have seen the bizarre appointments to the ceremonial position of Sheriff of Nottingham, a traditional Norman-English role.

The population of the Indian sub-continent is an estimated 1.25 billion and each Indian election results in hundred or so deaths and thousands of injuries. The Asian population in Britain is around 6 million and growing every day. We can't be that many elections away from similar manifestations of Asian political hatred and murder in our own island.

The Union Jack is Ours!

ON JUNE 3rd I was called into the office of the Head of Personnel of the company where I work and told that two employees had complained (anonymously) because I had worn a T-shirt with a Union Jack on it.

Reflecting Pendle Youth

by Stephen Ebbs

PENDLE HILL, with its very distinct outline, stands in a very beautiful part of Lancashire. It rises to 1831ft and dominates the landscape for many miles around. It lends its name to numerous things in the vicinity not least a nearby parliamentary constituency.

One would think that a football team called Pendle Youth would reflect the majestic and traditional area of Pendle.

Unfortunately you would be wrong. In fact, the football team contains, including substitutes, four Ahmed's, two Chaudry's, two Hussain's and one each of Jabbar, Mahmood, Ali, Arshad, Akmal, Shafi and Iqbal.

Pendle like the rest of the places on these islands and, indeed the islands themselves, are merely used for geographic reference without any respect for the heritage and true identity to which these placenames relate.

It should not be used purely as a geographical reference. It encompasses the past and is a foundation for the future.

Our forefathers have entrusted us with the responsibility that they were once entrusted with, we should not let them down - under any circumstances.
